DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-13, 18-20, 24, 28, 35, 38 and 41-51 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Handique et al. (6,130,098). This rejection was applied in the previous Office Action (mailed 5/14/08). It remains in effect. Please see Response to Arguments below.

Inventorship

3. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

5. Claims 14-17, 21-23, 25-34, 36, 37, 39, 40, 52 and 53 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Handique et al. (6,130,098). This rejection was applied in the previous Office Action (mailed 5/14/08). It remains in effect. Please see Response to Arguments below.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed 8/20/08 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant has amended claim 1 to include the limitation of the manipulator being devoid of microchannels. Applicant has then argued that Handique does not teach a manipulator that is devoid of microchannels. The Examiner respectfully disagrees and directs Applicant to Figure 8A and column 20, lines 5-12 of Handique. This embodiment of the Handique device is comprised of an upper layer (810A) having the channels and a lower layer (810B) with the heating elements. The Examiner submits the lower layer alone meets the limitations of claim 1 as currently written.

Claim1 recites a microfluidic manipulator comprised of a material having a surface and a plurality of individual controllable elements that can produce thermal gradients, wherein the thermal elements are controlled to transport fluids in a desired path. The manipulator must also as be devoid of microchannels. The lower layer (810B) of Handique meets these limitations. The lower layer is comprised of a material having a surface with thermal elements that are controlled to transport fluids in a desired path. The lower level is also devoid of microchannels.

7. In addition, Applicant has also used open language – comprising – in claiming the device. Therefore claim 1 does not exclude the placement of the upper layer (810A) onto the lower layer (810B) as Applicant has argued on page 9 (lines 22-24) of Arguments.

Conclusion

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Goldowsky et al. (5,103,762), McEntee et al. (US 2004/0050701) and Handique et al. (6,692,700).
